

Capabilities, Functions and Processes are all integral parts of an organisation's Business Architecture

Another way of thinking about functions and processes...

Functions are “verticals” and Processes “horizontals”

Which artefacts need to be developed to support a cohesive Business Architecture?

